

The Changes in my Worldview From Elementary to Secondary

Time

Learning time management.

Now with more deadlines I have to learn to use my time more wisely.

With more time needed for school I can't waste time that could be used for things that really matter to me.

Prioritizing what is most important to me.

Appreciating the time I have for the things I enjoy and people I love.

Appreciating and not wasting time.

I am responsible for paying for more things myself.

More awareness of what things actually cost.

Concerns for the future and cost of living.

Worried about the cost of housing.

Economy

Thinking about the future and what kind of job I would like to have.

Think about how to best make use of my talents and abilities and to enjoy my work.

There is a cafeteria at Seycove.

Before there was hot lunch once a week and now you can get food from the cafeteria if you want.

More serious about learning than just having fun.

In elementary school there was more time to have fun with friends and now I am more interested in exploring my creativity and potential to make a difference.

Becoming more confident about who I am.

Learning it does not matter what others think of me.

Finding friends who are supportive and genuine.

Finding friends that you know you can count on.

Choosing friends that have similar values.

Values

Beliefs

In the end things always work out for the best.

There is always something you can learn from the problems you have.

Different challenges help you to learn and grow.

Friendships and interests can change over time.

As you get older different things become important to you and others.

No matter what my family will always love and support me.

My family helps me feel better and get through rough times.

Some people don't even acknowledge that people are speaking to them or look up from their device.

Society

How devices effect how people relate to each other.

Many of my friends choose to use their devices instead of talking to each other.

To many people social media is more important than real relationships.

How people care more about what others think of them than being real.

Lots of people think that it is ok to play games in class.

People dress and act like others just to fit in.

How some people can be really selfish.

People don't listen and want things to be how they want.

Getting others to do the work for them.

Geography

We are lucky to live in Canada.

Judging other based on how they appear.

We need to increase our efforts to protect the planet.

We need to work on better recycling, less garbage and pollution.

Clean, safe and kind.

Stop global warming.

Getting to high school takes more effort than getting to elementary school.

Seycove is further away from my house which equals more walking uphill.

Knowledge

I have learned a lot of new things in PLP.

Self reflection and personal growth.

How to think outside the box.

I have learned about group work and collaboration.

I have learned that most people care more about fitting in than being authentic.

People are afraid of not fitting in. High school brings a lot of social pressure and anxiety.

Don't worry about what other people think - I have valuable ideas.

I have learned that I can do whatever I set my mind to.

Don't let fear prevent you from trying new and exciting things.
