

I took this silhouette picture of a friend and I used lighting and
editing skills to improve the picture

This is a photo with the intent of having the viewer feel mystery

This was using a everyday object in a unique photo

For this photo we were taking photos of geometric shapes and I used angles to show a rectangle

This photo I used markup to bring a random object to life

This photo had the intent of calm and serenity I took this by lowering my phone right next to the water and used foreground and background to show the ocean

This is a self portrait that I took and I got the motion blur by adjusting the shutter speed while on adobe lightroom (not sponsored).

Thanks for watching