

This collage took a lot of thinking, effort and creativity in order to create. The collage is order from newest event to oldest event by how their stacked in the photo. The newest photo is the baby and the last photos is the picture of the apps on the iPad. Each image has symbols and things to represent my worldview.

The photo of the baby in front of a Canadian flag represents me being born a Canada. The main symbolism of the photo is the Canadian flag behind the baby. This represents how my entire worldview is based on the country I was born in. Geography and time affected due to the location of which I was born in. My economy is affected because I grew up in a first world country without any war or famine. My beliefs and values are affected by the environment and values of my culture. My knowledge is affect because the government decided what is important for me to learn and the society affect is because if I wasn't part of Canada I would be in a totally different culture or society. Overall I'm not sure who I would be today without being born in Canada

The second photo is suppose to showcase a drawing created when I was pre-school. Drawing in pre-school heavily influenced the person I am today. Additionally, I showcased a bottle of glue since when I was little I loved to glue string and leaves on my art. Moreover, it affected my knowledge and beliefs. It affected my knowledge because I learned a great deal of anatomy and colour theory in order to improve my artwork. It affected my beliefs because my interest in art lead to my interest in tv show and I believe watching TV helped me generate beliefs about the world. Overall, I'm so glad I was interested in art in a early age.

The next photo is suppose represents me finishing my elementary school, St.Pius. I went to St.Pius for eight years and learned a great deal on Christianity, morals, academics and friendship. This part of my life influenced my beliefs and knowledge. It influenced my beliefs because I learned a great deal on Christianity, morals and what I believe to be right or wrong. It influenced my knowledge since the teachers had different methods of teaching which I either found beneficial or unhelpful. My learning is suppose to be delayed by the symbols in the drawing. In general, St.Pius made me who I am today.

The red and pink photo represents Covid-19 and the black figures represent all people in the world affected by the virus. On the top the ball is suppose to be a picture of Covid-19 however, the picture is poorly drawing. Even thought the virus will most likely not be on of the most important things to happen to me it is still important to history. Covid has affected my worldview on my society and economy. This is due to everyone in our society having to stay inside and stay six feet apart from each other. It also affected many people jobs and mental health. This has caused me to lose a little faith in our government and system. Hopefully the pandemic will end soon.

The last one is a picture of a iPad with apps that are suppose to represent what I have learned during PLP. This photo is suppose to capture me starting PLP and high school. Going to PLP has affected my knowledge and value. I have learn new ways to be creative, research and organize in my life from PLP. I've also gained values on how I should treat others and how should I motivate myself. These are shown through the person holding hands representing friendship. The lightbulb, book and paper represent creativity and academic skill. I'm excited to learn more that might change my worldview in the future.

In general my worldview has been created by the people and the challenges I have went through in my life. My worldview has affected the I treat the people around me, view events and try to make a difference in the world. I hope to further develop my worldview and meet new people who will challenge the beliefs I have about this world that we live in.
