

Keystone 3-Reflection

I believe that my thoughts on Canada have not changed a great deal from before. This is due to me learning about Indigenous issues in Canada since I was in grade 1. Thus none of the terrible stuff that we learned about Canada really surprised me. However, for Truth and Reconciliation I would like to learn more in-depth on how exactly Indigenous people suffered due to colonialism. I found that I learned much more in detail on specifically why residential schools and Indian act were bad and I feel it gave me a better idea about the history of Canada. Overall, this project taught me the in-depth ways Indigenous people were mistreated and discriminated against in Canada.
