

Web of causes and consequences

Consequence

Long term

Factories were very important for human progress

Short Term

Machines had more power and were able to run better

England was successful in colonization

England was able to get more materials

A lot less of the population are now farmers

Farmers had more tools and required less people because of the tools

Event: The improvement of the steam engine

Human Action

The first steam engine

They needed more supplies

Human's wanted to produce more efficiently

Cause

Underlying Conditions

Hand tools were inefficient

England was majorly colonizing the world

Most of the population were farmers