

Marty the Macrophage has a really cool appearance. He's got the big muscles because he needs strength to take on the pathogens. He's also got his really cool bandana that says team leader, because of course he needs people to know that he is the team leader of the immune system.

Marty the Macrophage has an essential part of the immune system. He works with his best friend Emily to eliminate the pathogens. When Emily alerts him that there's a pathogen he goes to it and absorbs the pathogen. He doesn't hurt the pathogen because Marty's actually a pretty nice guy.

Marty also lives in the immune system. He is the head of the team. The elite group called the immune system has a team leader, this leader is Marty.
